

The monograph reveals the peculiarities of the European integration path of Ukraine since independence. The research explores the theoretical aspects of European integration policy, a specialized study of European integration of Ukraine as a subject of political research with the corresponding methodology and terminology. Practical steps to implement the European integration of Ukraine are also explored through institutional, information and security factors. The research summarizes the achievements of Ukraine during the course of European integration until acquiring the status of a candidate for EU membership in 2022. The implementation of European practices was and remains a conscious and purposeful process. Ukraine has already received a wide range of financial, economic and political support from the EU and individual EU member states. A separate aspect is the security component, which came to the fore after February 24, 2022. The importance of Ukraine for the entire EU in terms of political stability, security and energy issues has been clarified. The authors conclude that Ukraine continues its course towards European integration, despite the full-scale invasion of Russia. The assistance of the EU and individual European countries in supporting Ukraine's economy and providing military aid is not a random, chaotic process. This process has a solid foundation in the context of the EU's development and enlargement, its self-awareness and value strengthening.
